

Glast

In 1985 Architect Michele Sbrogiò developed a sharp and elegant range of high class furniture naming it GLAST, a perfect and rich combination of steel and glass in order to carry out a broad executive range of office desks.

An excellent and timeless line of office furniture unbound from fashion trends that maintains its elegance unaltered through time and use.

The Glast desk features a 12mm tempered glass available clear, white matt or black matt sitting on a steel rod structure of pure lightness and subtlety. Available in different sizes, it may be ordered in modules according to your needs and matches perfectly with any other piece of furniture among Fosam's product range.

Colour of tops can be either transparent, white or black glass matt, frame can be either chrome, white or black steel rod structure, an array of orderly rods joined together in a beam supporting the top and a small round foot at the bottom. There is all the excellence in functionality and the beauty in its design blended harmoniously in one single piece, in order to fulfill the most demanding executives and managers.

All Glast office desks are ready to be delivered within 4 working weeks from the time we receive the order confirmation. No minimum purchase order is requested. All tables are supplied disassembled complete with simple and clear instructions.

Sizes available with a fixed height of 75 cm: 260x110 - 200x90 - 120x70
