

Pluff

The Pluff is a pleasant but classy sofa bed with a characteristic tubular shape. Born from a concept of Massimo Iosa Ghini and manufactured by Domodinamica, this is actually a sofa, a jewel in the crown of modern design, presented at 2008 Milan's International Exhibition.

Thanks to its superb aesthetics and design the Pluff easily fits any modern environment such as stylish living rooms, hotel lounge areas or waiting areas. The supporting frame is made of wood while the interior is stuffed with polyurethane and goose down for an incredible comfort and a wrapping sensation: this also gives a tender and soft appearance to the eyes.

When needed, an easy and practical series of movements turns the minimal sofa bed into a minimal bed, by simply folding the armrests.

The upholstery is made of the best quality leathers and is available in two variations: the Pluff sofa bed is a patented model by Domodinamica.
